Wallpaper Trends and Solutions

Trends

Wallpaper trends for 2020 reveal:

- It's time to be bold
- Wallpaper is simultaneously loosening up and embracing nostalgia
- Wallpaper represents the harmonious union between timeless design and youthful innovation, depth and buoyancy
- Aside from architectural nuances and major renovations, wallpaper is one of the best ways to personalize a room. Its sole purpose is to breathe life into a space and make it feel like your own

MURALS

Trends

MURALS

- non-repeating murals possess so much possibility
- they are the best storytellers of a space, with the capacity to communicate and capture moods, themes, and aspirations
- hand painted, hand printed murals cover walls in fine art from floor to ceiling and draw upon the beauty of transience, imperfection, and the earth that grounds us

ARCHITECTURAL/GRAPHIC

Trends

ARCHITECTURAL/GRAPHIC

- In the digital age, modern, photorealistic interpretations of classic designs are popping up everywhere
- modern architectural moments are mixed with organic touches
- geometric patterns that change gradually over the course of a wall can bring a nice sense of movement while still feeling modern

NEW CHINTZ

Trends

NEW CHINTZ

- The juxtaposition between cutting-edge and tradition is fresh and interesting
- laying traditional schemes, like toile in quirky motifs and electric tones, to create whimsical yet sophisticated print designs
- if the wallpaper itself is a classic, the look is beautiful when paired with offbeat and unexpected architecturally modern furniture and decor pieces

TONAL/TEXTURAL

Trends

TONAL TEXTURAL

- subtle does not have to mean boring as long as there is real or perceived texture, interactions with light, or even a two-dimensional design
- grasscloths and faux suedes, which are particularly well-suited for the color-averse bring depth a space without insisting upon the spotlight

PAINTERLY

Trends

PAINTERLY

- painterly, watercolor-inspired designs are continuing to reign supreme
- variations on this theme, either over-blown or a microprint patterns, make it feel fresh and modern
- incorporate an artistic approach to become works of arts themselves
- think rich pigments, evocative brushstrokes, and a whimsical elegance

PANTONE home + interiors 2020

Pantone Color and Design Trends for 2020 reveal:

- a fascinating dichotomy as a new era brings in both novel and nostalgic approaches to color and design
- kaleidoscopic colors twists into patterns or combinations that are authentic and real while other palettes appear somewhat surreal or out-of-the-ordinary
- a new era reinforcing the notion that muted and vibrant tones can co-exist
- that a traditional style, especially when tweaked with futuristic touches, offers an unusual and original approach to a product or an interior

Tea Garden Reminiscent of the art of the Japanese tea ceremony called Way of the Tea, the colors and the mood of Tea Garden suggest a thoughtful aesthetic imbued with humility, simplicity, harmony, respect, and tranquility. Those same words could describe the thoughts embodied in the architecture of a tea garden, in the design of the containers that hold the tea, or the fascinating structure of a floral arrangement that might grace the table. A sense of ritual draws deep feeling from us, and encourages us to slow our pace just long enough to sip our tea and use all five senses to ground us in the "now." The nourishing colors used in the palette fit perfectly into its ethos: blue in the shades of sky and sea, earthy lavender-inflected Turbot, serene greens, both matcha-toned yellow-green and a pungent olive shade, and the bracing flavor of Mango.
